Bathurst Regional Council will determine the number of members based on applications received. It is recommended to have a minimum of fourteen (14) and maximum of twenty-two (22) young people; however, this is at the discretion of the Community Development team.

If the number of applications exceeds the maximum number of Youth Councillors to be appointed (22), an evaluation committee comprising of the following will consider all applications received and determine membership:

- Two (2) Bathurst Regional Council Community Development Staff; and
- One (1) Representative from an external community organisation.

Youth Council members volunteer their services as a member.

If there are vacancies on Youth Council, a place may be offered to a young person outside the formal admission period at the discretion of the Community Development team. In making this decision, the Community Development team will consider the gender balance of the Youth Council, age range, and access for young people from differing backgrounds and with differing needs.

A member of the Bathurst Regional Youth Council may resign from membership by giving notice of not less than two (2) weeks in writing to Council's Community Development Team. Should a Youth Councillor resign throughout the first part of the year or are unable to fulfil their responsibilities, other candidates from the election process will be considered as a replacement.

Youth Council current appointed members will be able to seek re-appointment for subsequent terms. Any member of the Youth Council will need to apply to be selected for a further term of one (1) year through the recruitment process. Youth Councillors may apply for further terms until they reach the age of 24.
